

Society of American Military Engineers
Pittsburgh Post
Sustaining Engineering and the Sciences Award
2012

In an attempt to promote and maintain interest in engineering and the sciences, the Pittsburgh Post will present a continuing education award to deserving individuals to attend the Air Force Construction Camp in Colorado (July 6), and the Navy Construction Camp in California (July 22). In addition, the scholarship winners may select the U.S. Space Camp in Huntsville Alabama or the Kennedy Space Center in Florida. The curriculum is the same at each location and each camp is located adjacent to major NASA centers: Huntsville, Alabama trainees see the Marshall Space Flight Center and Florida trainees visit the Kennedy Space Center. A $400 transportation allowance will be awarded. The student's parents must make the travel arrangements.

Candidate application for the award will be based upon Post Sponsorship and references.

The candidate must be a student attending junior high school or high school and in the ninth grade or higher.

Through application to the post, the candidate must show academic proficiency in math and science. Send a school transcript with your application. Other information to be gathered by application includes:

- Listing of extracurricular activities demonstrating commitment to, and involvement in community activities.
- Demonstration of spirit, attitude, and leadership qualities.
- Demonstration of desire to pursue a career in engineering or the sciences.
- Explanation of why the scholarship would be beneficial to his/her future plans. For the Air Force Camp, you must indicate an interest in attending a Service Academy.
- Explain what you do with your time while you are not in school.

Candidate must live in the Pittsburgh Post area and cannot win in successive years.

*Student wishing to attend the ARMY Construction Camp in Vicksburg, MS (June 10) should apply directly to Mr. Henry Dulany (samevicksburg.org\camp). If accepted by Vicksburg, the Pittsburgh Post will pay for Camp registration and travel expenses.
